

Forestry for the Future

Forestry is both a valuable national asset and an excellent source of income.

There are many incentives to plant forestry. It is an important national resource, a raw material for industry, a wild life habitat, a positive environmental factor in relation to water and climate change, a renewable energy source and an important recreational resource.

For further information, contact:
Forestry Division,
Department of Agriculture, Food and the Marine
Johnstown Castle Estate,
Co. Wexford

Locall: 1890 200 223

Website:

www.agriculture.gov.ie/forestry